PAYBOTX

Restricted Merchants

Businesses that would be classified under any of these business models, would be merchant accounts that PaybotX is willing to underwrite. Restricted merchant accounts generally require more time in the application underwriting process and may require additional documentation, such as business financials, bank statements, prior processing history, and industry specific documentation.

This list of PaybotX restricted merchants below should be used as a guideline and not as an all inclusive list.

RESTRICTED MERCHANT BUSINESS TYPES: Restricted Merchant Business Types in general require established businesses demonstrating strong personal and business credit and financial stability.

Business models must adhere to Card Brand and regulatory requirements and will be assessed on a case-bv-case basis.

Prohibited Merchants

There are certain business models that require a sales agent to be more cautious, processors classify these models as prohibited or restricted. A prohibited merchant is one that PaybotX will generally not underwrite. These accounts put the payment card brands, the sponsor bank, or the processor at risk financially or can create reputation and brand risk.

However, many of these industries can request a waiver from our sponsor banks in order to be accepted. Some examples include Bail Bonds, Airlines, Cruise Lines, Credit Repair. PaybotX has been fairly successful at boarding some well established merchants that fall within prohibited industries. Exceptions are never made for gambling, illegal drugs, counterfeit products, etc.

The list of PaybotX prohibited merchants below should be used as a guideline and not as an all inclusive list.
